The menu is correct at the moment of the printout, but can be subject to changes without notice, according to the seasonality of the products. The dishes are PALM OIL FREE. For any information on substances and allergens, it is possible to request documentation, which will be provided by our staff upon explicit request or can be consulted on the thayki.com website. During the preparations, cross-contamination cannot be excluded. The fishery products administered are bought frozen or fresh. In the latter case, as required by the REG. CE853 and amended by Regulation (EU) No 1276/2011, fish intended to be served raw (or similarly) must have undergone a preventive remediation treatment.
